van den Blink, New Council President, a Mayoral Possibility; Hall Continues as Township Mayor; Cherry, Litvack Sworn In

At noon on New. Year's Day, Princeton's two governing bodies lined themselves up for 1978, and then adjourned to a festive, bipartisan reception at the Hook and Ladder firehouse on North Harrison. It was the largest–and possibly noisiest–of these public New Year's Day receptions in many years.

In the Borough Council chamber, minutes after she was sworn in for her second term, Nelson van den Blink was unanimously elected Council President, succeeding Martin P. Lombardo. Until a few weeks ago, it had been expected that Mr. Lombardo would fight for re-election to the presidency.

However, he not only withdrew, but placed Mrs. van den Blink's name in nomination himself referring to her as a "superwoman." Both are members of Council's Democratic majority. The nomination was seconded by Republican William Selden, and there were no other nominations.

Although the post of Council President is largely a nominal one–the chief duty is presiding over Council in the mayor's absence–it has symbolic significance. Observers were commenting on New Year's Day that it may be Mrs. van den Blink's first move in a bid for the mayor's job. The four-year mayoralty position comes up for the vote in 1979. Mayor Robert W. Cawley, in his traditional New Year's Day address, commented on the piffalls and advantages of regionalism in municipal government. (For a complete text, see page 12.)

Board Appointments Made. Two key boards will have new faces in 1978. Mayor Cawley observed with regret the resignation from the Zoning Board of Roger McDonough, who was first named to the baord in 1964 Council has not yet chosen a successor, although it may do so at this Thursday's agenda session. The name of attorney Theodore Savage is most frequently mentioned as the appointee. John McGoldrick was re-appointed to the board

On the Princeton Regional Planning Board, there will be two new Borough members. Ralph Vierno, 306 Nassau, will serve a regular five-year term replacing Golda Gottlieb. Wendy Benchley, 35 Boudinot, will fill an unexpired term ending January 1, 1980, a slot which has been vacant.

Mr. Vierno is a retired Squibb marketing executive with a master's degree in business administration. Mayor Cawley said Mr. Vierno will bring skills in economic evaluation to the Planning Board.

Mrs. Benchley, as a resident of Pennington, was co-chairman of the citizens 208 water quality study commission and has studied ways of balancing housing and the environment. A former vice-president of the League of Women Voters in Pennington, she has also lobbied for the League in Trenton on various issues.

The new joint Borough-Township Environmental Commission will have as its first Borough representatives Denyse E. Reid and Wanda Gunning, serving three-year terms; Lawrence Norris Kerr, two-year term, and James C. Sayen, one-year term.

Other Appointments. Sara T. Davies was named to a three-year term on the Historic Sites Committee and Constance Escher and Virginia K. Creesy to two-year terms as alternates.

John Bleimaier was named to a three-year term on the Civil Rights' Commission. One vacancy remains on that group. Marion Green was appointed to a three-year term on the Joint Fire Commission and James J. Combs to a one-year term on the Sewer Operating Committee.

In Council appointments, Richard Woodbridge was re-appointed Police Commissioner, and William Selden, Fire Commissioner. Both Borough and Township appointed William Anderson as the 1978 Fire Chief.

There were two incumbent Council members sworn in for second terms on New Year's Day. In addition to Mrs. van den Blink, Leona Medvin took the oath of office for the second time.

Drawing upon remarks made by her late husband, Murray, when he took the oath as a member of Council, Mrs. Medvin said that in her view, service on Council was a duty that transcended political lines. A Democrat, she first won a seat on Council running as an Independent with Republican backing. She and Mrs. van den Blink were running mates this fall.

Helen Bess was sworn in as Borough tax collector. She was also re-appointed to the Board of Health, which she has served as vice-president.

Gavin Hildick-Smith's Board of Health term expired He was not re-

HOUSE WITH NOBODY IN IT: Vacant and not contributing its weight in taxes. Details about 142 Hodge Road in story at the left.

Flats May Be Added to Township Houses Only by Occupants, Committee Decides

Whoever applies for a permit to put a flat (small apartment) in a house must be the occupant of the house, under terms of a new flat ordinance amendment to be introduced by Township Committee at its 8 p.m. meeting this Wednesday.

The present ordinance says the owner may obtain such a permit and this shift from "owner" to "occupant" is the key to the new amendment.

An old amendment, which hardly lived long enough to be called "old," was allowed to "slide slowly into the sunset," in Committee's words, at the end of a late afternoon meeting last Wednesday.

That amendment didn't quite achieve what Committee wanted: to keep developers from putting up new houses with flats in them, thereby beating the Planning Board's housing master plan to the drawing board

Although everybody kept saying it wasn't so at last Wednesday's meeting, it was the plans of Collins Development to erect 26 new houses, with flats, on the Constitution Hill property of A. Perry Morgan, that pushed Committee into amending the flat ordinance.

"The intent of the amendment isn't to destroy Constitution Hill, but that's the effect," observed Collins' attorney, Thomas C. Jamieson, to committee.

It was Committee member Elizabeth Hutter who had urged the amendment, at Committee's December 14th meeting. But last Wednesday, she announced that she had changed her mind, and now felt "reluctant to see a hasty adoption tonight." The Planning Board, the night before, had recommended passage of the amendment.

Some kind of hasty action was called for, however; it was Committee's usual 5 p.m., year-end meeting. constitution Hill was on the agenda for the Zoning Board's meetino at 7:30. Mr. Morgan, Mr. Jamieson

Vacant House at 142 Hodge, Owned by State, Costs Taxpayers More with Each Passing Day

The handsome house at 142 Hodge is still empty. Water damage from frozen pipes, peeling paint and long-term neglect have exacted their price: nobody wants to buy the place.

It's the state-owned house bought for the Commissioner of Higher Education. The former commissioner — Ralph Dungan — has left, and the current one lives in state-owned Drumthwacket. The most recent bid for 142 was $160,000, a figure so low it was rejected by the State House Commission last fall.

Governor Brendan Byrne then asked for data on the cost of fixing it up so it will bring a good price. A contractor is now examining the house and assembling figures; when they're ready, the state will decide what to do.

Meanwhile, the idle house is idle on the Borough's tax rolls, too, because it's state-owned. Unshoveled snow on the sidewalk could bring Borough police action against the state, but the Department of Higher Education has no maintenance department, and must call on Trenton State College crews.

"It's undetermined," said one state official, asked what department was in charge.

appointed and the seat, so far, is vacant.

Mayor Hall Renamed. In the Township, where the five members of Committee chose the "mayor" from among their own number, traditionally the senior member of the majority party, Republican Josie Hall was re-elected to a second year as mayor. For the text of her address, see page 13.

Committee has two new members this year -- Republican William Cherry and Democrat Kate Litvack, replacing Republican Elizabeth Hutter and Democrat Margaret Broadwater and thereby keeping the balance on the dais.

Mrs. Litvack was assigned as liaison to the Historic Sites Commission, the Recreation Commission and the Intergovernmental Drug Committee and was given the portfolios of welfare and youth-aging.

Mr. Cherry will sit on the committee that provides municipal liaison with the school board. He will also be concerned with housing, health, transportation, flood control and water quality.

Hugo Hoogenboom was named Committee's representative on the Planning Board, replacing Margaret Broadwater. Mayor Hall herself will serve on the Planning Board this year. Last year, she designated Mrs. Hutter to serve as her representative. Jerome Rose was appointed to a five-year term as citizen representative on the board.

The new Joint Borough - Township Environmental Commission will have as its Township members Erling Darf and Peggy McNeill for three-year terms, Leland G. Merrill for a two-year term and H. Philip Minis for a one-year term.

To Continue in Service. Eugene Harina was re-appointed to four years on the Zoning Board and Warren Huff and Thomas Lindenfeld to three-year terms on the Civil Rights Commission. Mrs. Joseph Bolster was named to fill an unexpired term on the Joint Recreation Board, term ending July 5, 1980.

James Kishl was appointed to the new Joint Fire Commission, and William Z. Ahrams is a new appointee to the Joint Commission on Aging.

Margaret Broadwater went off Committee, and onto the Board of Health, for a three-year term. Margaret Sprout was re-appointed to the Board of Health for three years.

Lynn Maher and George Pinelli were appointed to new three-year terms on the Citizens Advisory Council on Housing, and Floyd J. Campbell was re-appointed for another three years. An unexpired term ending December 31, 1979, has not been filled.

Dorothy Whiteman was re-appointed to a three-year term on the Joint Historic Sites Committee, and Alma Field to a one-year position as alternate. Thomas Haber was named to the Joint Advisory Committee on Public Transportation, and Sally Skey and Glen Price were re-appointed to the Sidewalk and Bikeways Advisory Committee.

William P. Starr and David Blair will again be Township representatives on the Sewer Operating Committee.

Apply Now for Housing

Applications are now being received for apartments in the public housing project under construction at Mt. Lucas and Ewing. There are units for families, and units for the elderly.

If you want an apartment, you must pick up an application in person at the office of the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton, 50 Clay Street, or at the Lloyd Terrace office, North Harrison and Spruce Circle.

You may apply whether you live in Borough or Township; however, the Housing Authority will give priority to Township residents, since the Authority is acting as the Township's agent for this housing project.

All completed applications will be dated February 6, if they are received by the Authority on or before that date. Although you may pick up your application form at either of the two places listed above, you must return your completed application to 50 Clay Street only.

Flat Ordinance

and the Collins cohorts were all there, ready for their zoning presentation.

Easy Solution. It was 7:10, only 20 minutes away from the Zoning Board gavel, when Committee decided not even to vote, but simply to let the amendment "slide slowly into the sunset," with the warning of a revised amendment to be introduced this Wednesday, only seven days and a holiday week-end away.

On chairs still warm from Committee, the Zoning Board sat down for its session. Mr. Jamieson told them what Committee had done, and asked to be placed on the Zoning Board's January 25 agenda.

A key issue in Committee's discussion was whether the original flat ordinance was supposed to apply to new houses.

"We're the victim of fuzzy ordinance writing," said Mayor Hall sharply. "It should have been spelled out."

Abbot Low Moffat, who had drafted the ordinance as a Committee member, said it was not fuzzy and was indeed intended to cover new construction. "Hatchet" legislation, was his scornful definition of the proposed amendment.

"Whether intended or not, application of the flat ordinance to new construction came as a surprise," observed Committee member Hugo Hoogenboom. Former Committee member William Sutphin observed from the audience that the amendment would discriminate against the owner of a new single-family house.

Gordon Griffin, municipal attorney, said he believed the ordinance does allow flats in new construction.

"Don't," urged James Thornton, 49 Lovers Lane, "close your mind to innovation."

A LITTLE TOO SWIFT: The driver of this Swift's Premium truck, William Marselle, 21, of Long Branch lost control Friday afternoon while crossing the Washington Road Bridge. The truck hit the curb and overturned, leaving behind 390 feet of skid marks. 'DNA' AGAIN

Council to Act. Borough Council is expected to pass on Thursday a resolution allowing recombinant DNA research at the so-called "P-3" level of laboratory security.

The resolution will be introduced either at Council's 5 p.m. meeting, when members are scheduled to hear comments on DNA research by two invited speakers, or at the 8 p.m. agenda session.

The resolution, prepared by Council member William Selden, proposes a four-year ordinance. It would require registry at Borough Hall, adherence to National Institutes of Health guidelines, a limit to the P-3 level of research and a limit on materials, creation of a supervisory committee by the institution doing the research, monitoring and training of personnel.

In addition, two residents of the Borough would be named by Mayor and Council to sit in on all meetings of the institution's supervisory committee, with power to review all reports. These two would, in turn, report at least once a year to the Borough government. Mr. Selden also proposes a penalty for not complying with whatever ordinance is prepared.

The resolution will also extend formal thanks to the citizens committee that worked on the DNA problem a year ago. Although its report was made in late spring, the committee has never been formally thanked for its work by Council.

Speakers at the 5 p.m. session will be Robert Corman of the Public Advocate's office and Dennis Helms, special assistant to the state attorney general. They will talk about the legal aspects of DNA recombinant research.

PERMITS DENIED

For Sheehan Building. Borough officials-- Council and the engineering department--have told 146 Dundas Corporation through its principal, Timothy J. Sheehan, that they are willing to co-operate with Mr. Sheehan "absolutely" in regard to the Sheehan building at 363 Nassau, Borough engineer George Olexa said this week.

Mr. Olexa has rejected two building permit applications from 146 Dundas. One, submitted October 5, requested a permit to construct a "curtain" wall--the exterior skin of a building. The other, dated October 7, did not state what Mr. Sheehan wanted.

The first was refused, according to Mr. Olexa, because no plans were included. The second was denied because there was insufficient information and the application was not properly prepared.

Mr. Olexa says he is concerned because, although the building was not designed to be exposed to weather, it has been for many years. Reinforcing steel within concrete can rust, he says, and cause internal pressures which damage the concrete.

"It's up to the owner to show me the building is structurally sound," Mr. Olexa said this week. He said he has suggested to Mr. Sheehan that 146 Dundas might do either of two things; ask a qualified engineer or engineer-architect to make an analytic argument from the records and by citing other structures similar to this one, or test part of the Sheehan building which is either typical, or "worst case." The part of the building selected would be agreed on with Mr. Olexa.

"The Borough is concerned for the general public, any occupants of the building and any future owners," Mr. Olexa said. "We don't think either option for Mr. Sheehan is astronomical in cost."

Asked whether he might once again take the Borough to court as he has in the past, Mr. Sheehan would say only, "I'll do whatever is necessary.

FIRST AGENDA....

For 1978. When Township Committee holds its first full-scale meeting of the new Year this Wednesday at 8, it may consider the proposed Fiscal Impact Study Committee.

Mayor Josie Hall has suggested forming this committee to see what the impact of any new rateables might be on the municipality.

The agenda also includes a petition from residents who want Terhune Road continued to the Princeton-Kingston Road, introduction of an ordinance for construction of a Mountain Avenue bike path, a Mercer Road bike path and construction of an amphitheatre in the new Community Park North recreaton area. The new flat ordinance amendment will also be introduced.

In work session, Committee will discuss the proposed Landmarks ordinance and regulations for the new Community Park North.

TRENTON MAN CHARGED

Has Stolen Credit Cards. James McKenzie, a 26-year old Trenton resident, has been charged by Township Det. Norman W. Servis with possession of stolen credit cards.

Also charged with driving without a license, he is scheduled to appear in Township court January 5.

McKenzie's problems began when his car was stopped last week on Route 206 by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord, who had been told to be on the lookout for a marnon Chevrolet Malibu with temporary Pennsylvania license tags. The occupants were wanted in connection with an attempted "flim flam" at a Route 206 service station.

Ptl. Gaylord noticed that McKenzie was using a driver's license belonging to Stanley Brown of Trenton and had no registration in his possession. While checking his identification, he also observed two credit cards in his possession made out to Mrs. Raymond Ash 3d of Trenton.

Asked about them, McKenzie replied that he had found them. He and his companion, Larry Williams, 24, of Trenton, were taken to headquarters. Williams was found to have two outstanding motor vehicle warrants against him from Mount Olive Township and Chester Borough. He was later released and was scheduled to appear in Mount Olive court this Wednesday.

It's cold, all right, but only seasonably so – not at all like last year, when whole days would go by without a thermometer reading above the freezing mark.

After the latest trip into the teens, which followed Sunday's two-inch snowfall, a milder trend is in store. Skies are expected to remain partially sunny into the weekend.

CONTEST DEVELOPS

For Township School Seat. At the brink of last Thursday's filing deadline, a contest developed for one of the two Township seats on the school board.

Robert W. Johnson, 11 Mulberry Row, a biology teacher at South Brunswick High School, filed his petition for one of the seats. Until that time, incumbents Winthrop Pike and Dale Madden were the only contenders. Township voters faced a no-contest, like voters in the Borough, where Robin Wallack is unopposed for her second three-year term, and Joseph P. Moore is unopposed for the two remaining years in the term of Judith Getis.

Robert W. Johnson

"Is anyone responsible for what happens to a student under the Thorough and Efficient education law? That's my chief reason for running," Mr. Johnson said this week.

He characterized himself as "an analytical, raise-questions sort of person."

"I raise questions until everybody is disgusted," he grinned, "and I think I'd be a good watchdog on the baord."

Although he is concerned about possible re-districting, he said he doesn't neeessarily plan to make it an issue in his campaign.

Mr. Johnson added that he thinks it would be good for Princeton Community Village, where he lives, to have a representative on a public body. He suggested that it might give PCV "a more positive attitude toward itself."

UNION TIE REJECTED

By University Security Police. Princeton University's uniformed officers and proctors held an election to determine if they would be represented in future wage and benefit negotiations by the Federation of Special Police and Law Enforcement Officers.

In the election, supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, security personnel voted 60-18 against presentation by the union. There were 83 eligible to participate in the vote and 79 cast ballots. One vote was voided by the NLRB because instructions were not properly followed.

"We are, of course, pleased with the outcome of the election and the vote of confidence it represents," said Security Director Jerrold L. Witsil. "I am concerned, however, with the thought that some of our personnel felt that outside representation was necessary to improve the circumstances of their employment at the University."

Mr. Witsil added that "we will concern ourselves with a continuing review of our department in an effort to make sure that we are providing as equitable and beneficial a program as possible on behalf of the employee and the University."

NEW COURSES PLANNED

For Spring at Adult School. Lord Caradon, former British Ambassador to the United Nations, Harlan Cleveland, director of the Aspen Institute Program for International Affairs, and T. George Harris, former editor of "Psychology Today", are among the speakers scheduled for a public issues course during the spring term of the Princeton Adult School.

Budding writers and literary enthusiasts can be part of a new project, "Improvising a Novel: An Experimental Workshop" to be conducted by David Shepherd, one of the founders of Chicago's Second City group. Film buffs can explore the challenges of making their own cinematic statements in "Basic Filmmaking," a workshop to be given by former BBC cinematographer Colin Hill.

Courses in meteorology, archeology and geneology are also part of the varied curriculum, as well as second terms for many of the current language, craft and creative courses. Over 1000 students enrolled for the Princeton Adult School Fall Term, the largest number on record. This heavy turnout has made it possible to maintain the current fee structure for the spring term despite substantial increases in operating costs.

Spring term classes begin on February 12 and 14. Curriculum booklets are scheduled for mailing in late January.

WOODSON TO SPEAK

At King Memorial Service. The annual Martin Luther King Memorial Service will be held at Princeton University Chapel Sunday at 11.

The Rev. S. Howard Woodson Jr., president of the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, Trenton, will be the speaker. All are welcome.

Patrolman Commended

Patrolman William A. Nathan of the Borough Police Force received a special, framed commendation on New Year's Day from Police Commissioner Richard Woodbridge on behalf of Borough Council.

Patrolman Nathan was praised for his work in spotting the man who was later arrested as the suspected rapist who had attacked several women this fall.

The officer, a rookie patrolman with less than a year's service, was on car patrol in the Franklin Avenue area. He noticed that the driver of a car closely resembled the composite picture of the rapist which had been drawn by a state police artist from descriptions supplied by the victims.

Ptl. Nathan stopped the car, obtained the identification of the driver which he passed on to the Borough's Detective Bureau. Investigation by the Bureau ended in the arrest of Bryant L. Taylor of Trenton.

George St. Playhouse in Financial Crisis

"Continuous artistic growth without a corresponding rise in community support" – in the bleak words of producing director Eric Krebs – has brought financial crisis to the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick. Unless "a substantial sum" can be raised quickly, the halance of the current season is in jeopardy, Mr. Krebs said this week.

An intensive, three-month fund drive will be launched in February with a goal of $35,000 in new money. On Sunday, February 5, Broadway star Jack Gilford will give a benefit performance at the Playhouse at 8 p.m., followed by champagne, dessert and dancing. A $50, $35, $25 ticket price will launch the drive.

"Steambath," which ran at 86 percent house capacity, with extra and sold-out performances, has been named "Best Play of 1977" by the New York Daily News critic, and that was fine. In fact, the Playhouse received nine Daily News nominatinns in four categories.

But, Mr. Krebs emphasizes, even if every show played to 100 percent capacity, expenses wouldn't be covered. Fridays and Saturdays are packed houses but Mr. Krebs says "no theatre can survive on two filled houses a week."

Another Playhouse problem has been the theatre's location. The image of New Brunswick for out-of-town playgoers, and the lack of a local tradition of support for the arts, are twin problems. The theatre has almost no corporate financial support on a large scale.

Tickets for the Gilford concert may be purchased by sending a check to the Playhouse at 414 George Street, New Brunswick, 08901. Contributions, which are tax deductible, may be sent to the same address.

SHAW IN NEW BRUNSWICK

"Man and Superman," George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman" – with the "Don Juan in Hell" sequence - will be presented by the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick, from Friday, January 13, through Saturday, February 4. The theatre is at 414 George Street.

The February slot at the New Brunswick theatre may be filled by one of two new scripts, the first, a play set in the Paris of Hemingway and Fitzgerald, the other a contemporary play in the style of Harold Pinter.

On March 24, the Playhouse will present Lanford Wilson's "Serenading Louie," a play about a pair of suburban couples trying to save marriage and self. Wilson is the author of "Hot l Baltimore."

The spring season will close with the comic whodunit, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Because of group reservations and broad public interest, the Playhouse has decided to play "Arsenic" longer than the usual four weeks. It will be given from April 28 to June 4.

Single tickets for "Man and Superman" are now on sale at the box-office. Reservations may be made at 201-246-7717 after noon, Tuesdays through Fridays and on weekends from noon until curtain-time.

FOR "TORCH-BEARERS"

Sets! Ed Wittstein, who won an Emmy nomination for the sets he did for "The Adams Chronicles" on television, is designing the sets for McCarter's forthcoming production of George Kelly's farce, "The Torch-Bearers," scheduled to open Thursday, January 19, at 7:30.

Wittstein also won awards for his designs for "Ulysses in Nighttown" starring the late Zero Mostel. In McCarter's production, he'll be joined as designer by Jane Greenwood, who has designed costumes for many McCarter plays. She'll be in charge of the 1920s gowns and tuxes for this 1921 comedy.

Michael Kahn is directing "The Torch-Bearers," with its cast of professional actors pretending to be wealthy, pretentious amateurs. They are putting on a play, a dreadful play dreadfully acted, which is supposed to raise the torch of culture high over small-town America.

"The Torch-Bearers" will play through Sunday, February 5.

"QUEEN JANE"

Players' Winter Offering. "Queen Jane" is Lady Jane Grey who was queen of England for nine days after the death of Edward VI in the England of the 16th century, and the plotting that led to and characterized her brief reign is the subject of Princeton Community Players' winter play -- "Queen Jane."

The original script comes from Marvin H. Cheiten, a Princeton resident, and his co-playwright, William Lord. "Queen Jane" will open Friday, January 13, at 8:30 p.m. in the Players' theatre, 171 Broadmead, and will play that Saturday and Sunday and again Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 20, 21 and 22, and Friday and Saturday, January 27 and 28. Sunday performances are at 7:30.

Queen Jane will be played by Jane Beard, who has appeared in the Players' "Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" and "Jean Brodie." In this play, the Duke of Northumberland, one of the nobles who plotted to bring Lady Jane Grey to the throne and then abandoned her, will be played by Robert Watson. He has recently appeared in Players' productions of "Bus Stop" and "Many Moons."

Others in the cast are Anne Bredon, Spencer Gates, Jon Tenney, Herbert McAneny, Pierre Mali, Bob Orlikoff, Phil O'Donoghue, Jack Gwin, Michael Orlikoff, Peter Dolotta, John Mochel and David Dessel.

Churchill Clark is the director, and John Schenck has designed the sets.

Tickets may be reserved by calling 921-6314. Opening-night tickets entitle the holder to attend a reception after the play to meet cast and crew.

audience, no lines tossed over the kids' heads to serve the parents and grandparents who use the kids as an excuse to see a good show. Paper Bag Players deal in reality, with respect for all ages who come to watch.

The Paper Bag Players will play McCarter again this Saturday at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. with their production "I Won't Take a Bath." We're not sure about the plot line, but it has something to do with a kid who doesn't want to take a bath. The Players build on this theme, finding both humor and humanity in it.

Judith Martin, who founded The Bags, serves as writer, director, designer, costumer, choreographer and head actress. She says she doesn't like the stereotypes of evil in children's fantasy stories, regards "Pinocchio" as reflecting a point of view that is not in tune with today's world, and prefers to poke gentle fun at the foibles of human beings, and encourage the young audience to laugh at them.

One time in Iran, Ms. Martin relates, audiences thought one of the Paper Bag numbers -- "Plumber, Plumber, Fix my Sink" -- had been written especially for them. Israeli audiences thought the same thing and so did American children in Appalachia. The idea actually came from an experience in New York.

Tharp Returned. Generally regarded as "the most sensational company in dance today" – the line is McCarter's, but few critics would disagree – the Twyla Tharp Dance Foundation company will come back to McCarter (she played to sold-out houses last spring) for performances Monday, January 23 and Tuesday, January 24. Curtain-time is 8:30 both nights.

Each evening will have a different program. On January 23, there will be "Country Dances" (featured on the WNET-TV documentary on dance), "The Fugue," which is a balletic demonstration of counter-point, and "Sue's Leg," a mix of modern

PROGRAM PLANNED

By Caotata Eosemble. Members of the Princeton Cantata Ensemble will perform a program of instrumental and vocal music in the Gallery of the New Jersey State Museum Sunday at 2 on behalf of the Friends of the New Jersey State Museum. The Princeton Cantata Ensemble gave its first concert last winter at Columbia University in New York City where they presented J. S. Bach's Coffee Cantata.

Performing in this concert will be Anne Hoffmann, soprano; Fadlou Shehadi, baritone; Arlene Jones, piano; George Jones, clarinet. The group will offer music for piano and clarinet by Ravel, Debussy and Pierne and vocal duets by Purcell, Mendelssohn, Schumann and Cornelius.

Ms. Hoffmann has studied voice in Berlin, Paris and New York City and has sung in concerts in New York City and the Princeton area. She sang the role of Lucy in the world premiere of "The Disappointment" by Andrew Barton at Washington Crossing and McCarter Theatre last year.

On January 24, the program will consist of "Simon Medley," "Cacklin' Hen," "Mud," – given its premiere last spring at McCarter – and "Eight Jelly Rolls," a suite set to eight songs by Jelly Roll Morton and his Red Hot Peppers.

OH, NO.....!

Monty Python. The frumjious bandersnatch outgrabes the momewrath, gimbles in the wabe and finally wreaks havoc -- you still with us? – among the slithy toves.

Yeah, it's "Jabberwocky" in the Monty Python version, and you can catch it in the double feature with "Monty Python and the Holy Grail" this Saturday and Sunday at 7 and 8:45 p.m. McCarter Theatre is the place.

"Holy Grail" has this big wooden bunny, a Trojan rabbit, assaulting a castle, and the attacking knights ..... but you'd better see for yourself.

On Sunday, January 15, in what must be the fastest change of pace on record, McCarter will show "King," a documentary about Martin Luther King Jr. This film, to be screened at 7 and 9 p.m., will be shown in McCosh 10 on the University campus.

"Voyager" will be presented at 2 and 4 each Saturday and Sunday from January 14 through February 26 and also nn Mondays, January 16, February 13 and February 20.

At 3 p.m. on those same days the Planetarium program will feature a simulated look at the planets, constellations and other celestial sights visible in "New Jersey's Winter Sky." This program is particularly suitable for ynunger people and first - time planetarium visitors.

Examination of Afro-American heritage will continue Sunday, January 22, at 3 with the presentation of "Dingaka," a story of emerging Africa directed by James Uys, South Africa's foremost filmmaker.

The January 21-22 movie for young people will be "Island at the Top of the World." The final weekend, January 28 and 29, will feature Hal Weaver, prominent spokesman for the Third-World-Images project, who will show and discuss accomplishments of independent black filmmakers. Mayor Cawley Reviews Municipal Developments of Past Year– Finds Regionalism Can Be a Major Threat to Local Autonomy

During the '70s, regionalism in government has been one of the most mentioned ideas for solving many of the problems of our complex society. But much as regionalism is the hope for those problems we cannot solve ourselves, it is also in many other situations a threat to our local autonomy. And where regional solutions are forced on local governments by state or federal governments there is often in the detailed working out of the problem inappropriate state or federal actions owing to insensitivity, simplistic ideas and lack of knowledge of local conditions. And of course with any actions involving higher levels of government, there is red tape.

Is it any wonder that regionalism is more ideal than reality?

There are a number of local examples of successful and unsuccessful regionalism and also of problems that call for regional approaches.

It is difficult for me to call the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority a success with all the pain, frustration and costly delay. But a regional service will be started in several days and in the future that service is likely to extend even beyond the present seven member municipalities.

Some Negative Aspects. It is a success of course only because the state forced a regional approach and then later the Federal Water Pollution Control Act confirmed the regional concept and made it economically feasible by very large construction grants. Its history includes all the negative aspects of regionalism–red tape, confusion among state and federal authorities, etc. and capped by the state's actions forcing regionalism which included taking one municipality to court to prevent it from building its own system.

An unsuccessful example is the county solid waste disposal plan. The best plan -- a centrally located waste disposal site -- was scuttled when the municipality that was proposed as the host for the site absolutely refused. Other solutions have fallen apart because they were not advantageous enough for many municipalities, at least in the short term.

Land use planning is an area that brings out extreme views ranging from a desire for a regional approach to the desire for complete local autonomy, depending on the issue.

Consider the two new malls on Quaker Bridge Road Both are in Lawrence Township, which is pleased to put up with all the problems they bring because of the tax revenues. West Windsor, which shares the road with Lawrence has only the problems, no tax revenue. Further there are indirect effects: the increasing traffic on already overcrowded nearby roads affects us all. The mall competition also affects the local economies of other municipalities' shopping area.

This would seem to be an important area for regional action–provide planning for malls and shopping centers. How many malls can a region support; where should they be located? But local autonomy prevails.

Limited Authority. County government represents a good opportunity for regional approaches. It is an already established government that governs a region.

But in New Jersey counties have very limited authority–nothing in land use for example. And in those services whose regions follow natural rather than political boundaries the county's region is often inappropriate.

How to achieve regional solutions?

It appears that the best way, except where state or federal laws control, is for voluntary creative cooperative effort–putting together a structure that may be unique for each regional service. The Princetons have successful experience with all of our joint agencies. But such joint efforts are easy compared to ones involving more than two municipalities and especially when those municipalities all do not share a feeling of common community.

Cooperation on a single issue, especially if it is limited to common petitioning of higher levels of government as in the recent 92 bypass is relatively easy.

A Common Authority. The developing possibility of a Princeton Bornugh, Princeton Township, West Windsor Township, West Windsor Parking Authority, Mercer County Improvement Authority conperative effort to run the Dinky, associated parking and restaurant as a single entity could be an excellent example. The key ingredient in this proposed effort will likely be specific assignment of influence and responsibility to each of the participating public bodies all reduced to legally binding agreement.

The increasing municipal support for the Mercer County Planning Board to work on regional programs such as "208 non-point source water pollution planning" and allocation of the fair share of subsidized housing among county municipalities, suggest that maybe even some aspect of land use planning may become regional.

One of the important ingredients in the process of creating reginnal solutions is bringing local governments together to talk. A government of local governments is still in the future but opportunities for sharing information such as the Mercer County Mayors' Advisory Council are essential.

The help is being catalytic agents to regional approaches provided by private regional associations such as the Middlesex - Somerset - Mercer Regional Study Council and the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association, is very important. However, in the absence of federal, state or county authority, discussion and private initiative are still often insufficient to bring about regional service. Local interest gets in the way.

Agreement Essential. One principle that would be useful is agreement among local governments that in any regional approach the benefits and burdens should be shared equitably by all parties -- no municipality should enjoy a free ride and no municipality should bear all the burdens. In the case of a regional solid waste plan the municipality hearing the burden of hosting the disposal site should be recompensed in some way.

It is clear to me that we shall see more regional action. I hope that local government can take the lead in designing the regional systems rather than have higher levels of government mandate them.

Once again I want to thank Bob Mooney and his staff for the excellent work they have done. We successfully survived our first year with budget caps.

With a veteran council, the Borough government is well prepared for a productive 1978. Thanks to all of you citizens for your support in 1977 and I ask you to continue it in 1978.

Mayor Hall Reports on Township's Accomplishments for 1977

It is my pleasure to present the annual report on the state of the Township as we go into 1978. But before I begin, I would like to thank David Blair and Hugo Hoogenboom for their excellent and productive work on the Committee this past year. One became an expert on DNA research, the other on Landmarks Ordinances and both provided welcome relief to serious business with their infectious late-night humor.

Our two retiring colleagues, Margaret Broadwater and Duffy Hutter, have left an indelible mark on Princeton Township, and I am sure I express the gratitude of the entire Princeton community when I say "Thank you".

Margaret's precise understanding of the legal process coupled with her great compassion for the individual, has time and again guided us to fair, meaningful legislation. Duffy has taught us all a new dimension in caring and planning for this Township - that environmental factors can and must be weighed on an equal footing with other considerations. Ladies, you have left us with a handsome legacy - one that I know will continue to stimulate us and influence our thinking in the years ahead. I know that I will be asking myself "how would Duffy and Margaret approach this?"

Welcome, Newcomers. At this point I welcome with enthusiasm two new members to Committee. Kate Litvack comes to us with excellent credentials, having served on both the Recreation Board and the Environmental Commission. Bill Cherry, who most recently served on the housing committee, has a long record of community involvement and a warm interest in his fellow citizens.

I know I speak for both Committee and the community in expressing the appreciation and gratitude to our entire municipal staff, and I would like to give special thanks to Joe Nini and Gordon Griffin for advising and guiding us with patience and humor through some seemingly impossible situations. At this time I would also like to congratulate Police Chief Fred Porter on his 25 years of dedicated service to the Township and to wish recently retired Lt. Dick Steiner many enjoyable relaxed years ahead.

Township Committee could not function without the expert advice from our volunteer citizen advisory boards and committees. I would like to take this opportunity to thank them for their invaluable assistance.

I would also like to especially commend the excellent report produced by the DNA Committee. They took on a subject incomprehensible to most laymen and produced a document that was both understandable to the public and thorough enough to give Township Committee a sound basis for decision.

A Noisy Start. I think it is appropriate at this point to remember that 1977 started off with not one bang - but many. The Battle of Princeton on January 3 was a rousing success and will in turn become part of our own history. We will always be grateful to the organizers, participants and our own police force for handling the local logistics.

1977 was an important year for public safety. A Joint Fire Commission to aid the fire companies with future planning was created and a new fire truck approved for purchase in 1978. Township police communications will soon improve when our existing radio tower will be moved to Borough Hall to be the anchor for our new UHF communications system. Speed limit reductions were ordinanced on seven streets, and traffic signals installed at the Shopping Center and at the 206 - Cherry Valley Road intersection. A signal for the crossing of 206 to the north side of Community Park will be installed in 1978.

1977 was a big year for public works, too. Township Committee authorized the final architectural drawings for the proposed public library expansion. In 1978 we intend to complete the Mountain Avenue extension and jughandle. In addition to other local road repairs, Balcort Drive was reconstructed, and major repairs on Mercer Road are planned for this year.

After careful study Township Committee rejected the county's request to build a new four-lane Mercer Road bridge at Quaker Road, and with unanimous support from Borough Council and all affected historical and citizen organizations, requested the county to repair the existing bridge. Although the request was made six months ago, the county has not yet bothered to reply.

This past year also saw the completion of the Great Road bicycle path, made possible by a generous gift. In 1978, we anticipate completion of the Mountain Avenue and Mercer Road paths through partial Green Acres funding and of the two paths serving the North Side of Community Park. It is also hoped that the Stockton and Rosedale paths, federally and county funded, will be started this year.

Sewers, of Course. Sewers took up more of Township Committee's time than any other subject in 1977. Committee's strong support of the three-plant system helped contribute toward that favorable decision handed down by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. Committee also authorized funds to initiate the infiltration and inflow correction program which has now begun and will receive federal funding in the future.

The "sticky wicket" of the year turned out to be the sewer allocation policy when, after interminable deliberation, Committee established workable policies during the moratorium lifting period for the Authority's plant and for the Montgomery Township system. Now, the late news has it that our new plant will start operating January 4, 1978. And now is the time to give special thanks to our Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority representative, Bill Starr, for his sensible, effective representation on the Authority.

In the less concrete field for planning for the future, much progress was also made. 1977 was a period of much revision of the housing element of the proposed master plan. The natural resource inventory task force has completed its map revisions, and Township Committee has just created a Fiscal Impact Study committee to report on the ratable picture. With these elements falling into place under the supervision of our new resident planner, Carlton Ryffle, we can look forward to a land use plan and all its elemer s taking shape this year. Carlton, we welcome you to a fascinating and difficult task.

On a more immediately tangible plane, Committee adopted the new land use law to comply with our present master plan. This will be considerably revised as soon as the new master plan is ready. Two concrete measures for 1978 will be the adoption of the long-awaited landmarks ordinance and a thorough study of existing rental housing in the Township.

In the broad-base planning picture, and closely tied to environmental consideration are the continuing active roles the Township is playing in the 208 water quality program and in regional highway planning. Committee has provided much input, and will continue to, into the DVRPC 208 planning process. This has been made possible through the efforts of Duffy Hutter, Bill Whipple and Peggy McNeil.

Committee has strongly supported the New Jersey Turnpike alternative for the I-95 alignment, protested the projected study of improvements to Route 206 penetrating its borders and pushed hard for a higher priority for the Route 92 bypass. We seem to be making some headway on the latter. We are grateful for all the technical assistance on these matters from the Stony Brook Watersheds Association and the Middlesex - Somerset - Mercer Regional Study Council.

All Aboard! On local transportation matters, Crosstown-62 is becoming increasingly popular, and we look forward to renewed interest in the loop bus now that a "dedicated route" has been introduced by Mercer Metro. 1978 should also see finalization of working plans for the operation of the dinky. I hope that this coming year will also see the consolidation of all transportation matters into one coordinated department.

Finally, this past December, Committee and Borough Council ordinanced the formation of a Joint Environmental Commission. In 1977 they often met jointly and provided valuable guidance to us - especially on design and planning of future parks. Much work was also done on recommending the environmentally sound three-plant sewer system, the new Township noise ordinance, and, along with the Flood Control Committee, water quality planning under federal law. In 1978 we anticipate completion of the final brook survey, an extensive pilot study of sedimentation and erosion under General William Whipple of the Water Quality Institute at Rutgers, and participation in a regional study of the Sourland Mountain area.

1977 was an exciting year for parks in the Township. John Witherspoon Woods is now a reality thanks to the wonderfully generous 40-acre gift of Mrs. Mary Pardee. We also thank Mr. Lawrence Greene for donating additional land to complete a lovely park area adjacent to Stony Brook.

Now that Green Acres and appropriated Township monies will be used to develop Basin Park, these three facilities will greatly enhance our natural recreation areas. On a somewhat more active end of the passive recreation scale, we have been assured state and federal funding for acquiring recreation land adjacent to Princeton Community Village. The new facility at the north side of Community Park, although held up by drainage problems and bad weather, will be usable and enjoyable by this summer. Thanks to yet another generous gift, an attractive amphitheatre will be started soon. When you add the renovation of Tamarack to all this, our park system is becoming extremely impressive.

The facilities for active recreation continue to improve also. In 1978 we plan to light and resurface the tennis courts, renovate the ball fields in the south side of Community Park and create two little league fields in Grover Park. Our recreation programs continue to grow and delight. A good example is the big success of the senior citizens program, high-lighted by a trip to Bermuda.

Three-Year Program. But back to more serious and fiscal matters. In 1977 Township Committee recommended a pared-down and more realistic capital budget for 1978. We also appropriated money for partial revaluation of property, in keeping with the past sound practice of revaluation and reassessment on a regular basis. This program will be completed in 1980.

In 1977 the Township floated a general bond issue of $875,000 - the first one since 1971. It is good news that we were bid a very favorable rate of sale. And, finally, over the highly-vocal objections of the mayor, Committee voted its first salary increase in many years.

I wish I could give you a peek into the tax crystal ball today, but all the figures are not yet in, and we will be struggling with this during January. The bad news is that everyone's sewer charges will about double. This is due to the new plant coming on line but should be temporary until other paying Authority members are actually able to use the facility. At an average

Native Princetonian, Established Concert Singer, Turning Her Talents to Computerized Service for Home or Business

Jenneke Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barton of Springdale Road, is a successful concert singer who has decided to lead a double life as a business efficiency expert.

After a decade singing as a mezzo and a soprano in recitals and as soloist with chamber music groups, opera companies and choral societies, Ms. Barton is launching her own company, All Systems Go, from her New York apartment. She describes the operation as "a new organizing service established to meet the needs of the small business owner, the professional person and the homeowner."

At a time when an absorbing career in which one's abilities are used to the fullest is of prime concern to many women, Ms. Barton is making use of her multiple talents. Possessed of a voice that the New York Times has described as "strong, well produced and lushly beautiful from top to bottom," Ms. Barton also apparently has a mind that is neatly compartmentalized, the patience of a fisherman for untangling snarled affairs and a flair for organizing other people.

It all began after her graduation from Miss Fine's School and from Wellesley College, when she was launching her singing career in Boston. While she was studying voice, and in between performances, she took part-time jobs as a "girl Friday" in a variety of businesses. She found she enjoyed the organizing aspects of each job and that she had a knack for it.

Jenneke Barton

Organizing Her Own Life First. As her own life become more complicated with more singing engagements in a wider area and with new interests in theatre, art, nutrition and travel also demanding her attention, it became increasingly important to organize her own life efficiently as well. Her success in establishing a home office for a psychiatrist some years back led him to suggest that she use her organizational talents professionally and taught her that "people may be utterly brilliant but not able to find anything."

Ms. Barton notes that large firms have access to systems analysts and management consulting firms. For the small client the problems can be as serious, yet there are few places to turn to for help. "If disorganization is costing a business time and money, if clutter and chaos are driving a homemaker up the wall, or if someone simply feels there's not enough time, then All Systems Go can help them," she says.

Her company will help the client organize desks, files, assistants and scheduling, set up a small office or establish a record management program. It will suggest up-to-date equipment for the job or spot where electronic data processing might be the answer. At home, All Systems Go will tackle closets, bureaus, garage, attic, library, record keeping systems, shoeboxes full of cancelled checks or correspondence and the client's shell or recipe collection.

All Systems Go offers an exploratory interview free of charge with no obligation, a written report and follow-up service. Using her parents' home as a base, Ms. Barton will accept Princeton clients in the same manner that she accepts other out-of-New-York-City clients. Rates for a six-hour working day are $80 for personal or home organizing and $105 for business and professionals.

All Systems Go may be reached at P.O. Box 1271, Cathedral Station, New York 10025, or (212) 866-3881.

Ms. Barton is fully confident that she will continue singing with the Craftsbury, Vt., Chamber Players, giving recitals and performing in churches and temples. It is all a matter of organization, after all.

Mayor Hall's Address

of just under $100, this is still a bargain compared to many other municipalities.

Last year, Township Committee appropriated some extra money into surplus in hopes that there will be a general cushioning effect in 1978. Your local tax rate went down 7 cents on the dollar in 1977. As our local share is only 17 percent of the total, the overall effect is not astonishing. And due to an appalling rise in fixed costs, such as insurance, power and pension funds, I cannot now promise a repeat.

However, things won't be all bad. Citizens will still be getting property rebates and the "CAPS" law is still with us. The net result is more likely to be a decrease in municipal services rather than a dramatic rise in the local tax rate. On that note I want to wish you all a good and prosperous 1978.

POETRY WORKSHOP SET

For Women at YWCA. The YWCA is offering a new poetry workshop designed for women who would like to awaken their poetical writing voices and share with others developing their poetical skills.

Krysia Kolodziej-Goss, a poet and a writer who holds a master's degree in creative writing, will lead the workshop. Ms. Kolodziej-Goss has published in a variety of magazines and has given readings of her work at colleges, in coffee houses and on radio. She has recently come to this area from Cambridge, Mass., where she was an editorial board member and writer on women in the arts for a Boston based journal, and is on the staff of The Quarterly Review of Literature here.

Ms. Kolodziej-Goss would like to focus the course on the beginning woman writer who often faces particular problems concerning self-confidence, subject matter and a room of her own, the problem of creating a private time and space for writing when one has family and work obligations. The class will provide stimulus, feedback and resources to the beginning poet, and through a series of discussions, exercises and writing assignments, will work toward helping students find a writing voice, perfect their craft and develop a critical eye for poetry.

The workshop will meet once a week for 10 weeks starting the week of January 16. It will be offered on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and also on Thursdays from 9:30 - 11:30. The fee is $25. Registration is at the YWCA Saturday, January 7, from 9:30 to 2:30 and Monday, January 9, from 9 to 8:30.

For information call the YWCA, 924-4825, ext. 22.

When Aspirin Fails...

The Headache Clinic at Princeton Medical Center will begin Biofeedback training sessions as soon as a sufficient number of migraine and tension headache sufferers sign up and are medically screened. For further information call 924-0782 or 921-7700, ext. 412 or 413.

Our once-a-year sale.
If you miss it,
you'll have to wait until 1979.

From January 2 to January 31
practically everything is 10% to 40% off regular prices.

Reg $50 each
Limited quantities

Here it is. The stupendous furniture sale you've been waiting for the whole year. The once-a-year sale when we mark down practically everything in the whole store from 10% to 40%.

What's everything? Our regular stuff. You see, we don't bring in so-called specials or stock up on things that no one wants at regular prices the way a lot of other places do. Instead, we take our best stuff--and that includes our butcher block tables, music benches, upholstery, desks, bedrooms and chairs galore--and lower the prices. Substantially. (Of course, there are some things, like brand new items and stuff that's oversold that we don't put on sale. But then, no one is totally perfect.)

But, what is on sale is amazing. So don't miss out. Because, to the best of our knowledge (and we've done a lot of checking), we're the only furniture store we know that has only one storewide sale a year. Which means if you miss it, you'll have to wait all the way until 1979 to get bargains like these again.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

Mrs Barbara Hurley, PRS Food Services director, is dimunitive but spry She covers the two long flights of stairs from her office to the PHS cafeteria - and back - in record time She's equally at home behind the counter or behind the desk, she's constantly alert, checking item after item at either location As to qualifications, if holding a certificate from Cordon Bleu isn't enough, she's studied with James Beard and Ann Roe Robbins, too This past summer was a fun excursion into "continuing education" with a three week stay in Venice as part of a student body learning more about Italian cooking The course, sponsored by the Committee to Restore Venice, had instructors from around the world Its purpose was two-fold to save and restore the art and buildings of the city and to inspire culinary arts

Mrs Hurley is interested in ethnic foods and would like to be able to serve a more international menu. Having a clientele of over a thousand makes it "institutional food" though Her reactions to the satellite feeding program were mixed On the negative side is the loss of the cafeteria head at each school during the school-opening hours and the difficulty encountered when a large number of unplanned-for extra patrons line up for lunch Additional supplies can be dispatched from the PHS kitchen, but it does create uncomfortable, anxious moments at times. Organizing equipment and personnel was the first and biggest problem, but that one is only memory Some menus don't travel well, even with the hot and cold and humidity - controlled carts; that's why meat loaf quality is better than, for example, hamburgers

On the positive side, all meals are now standardized; the cook's personal touch may be gone, but so are any errors that might have spoiled the broth. Some savings in personnel have already been realized, in the future there may be other economies with consolidation of jobs. Right now the schools are anxious to keep their "old" employees who know the students, the procedures and each other. Though the kitchen is ringed with equipment - oven tier upon tier - ranges, refrigerators, mixers - there is also a homey corner over the sink with hanging plants that share the loving touches given to the food

"Satellite feeding is just another way of getting things done," Mrs Hurley said "Costs keep rising, this is an alternative to on-premise food production in each school. We still have one kitchen (JW) that is self-staffed and prepares its own food for serving "

The middle school is the first school where students have choice in "what's for lunch". Along with the system-wide special of the day, there's a soup and sandwich alternative Menus are posted in advance; students can plan ahead and, lacking the food of their choice, bring their midday meal with them. Milk is sold in each cafeteria for that reason. Lunch tickets are also sold at each school to minimize the danger of lost money, students qualifying for free or raduced price lunches receive the same kind of tickets (some parents have solved the problem of lost tickets by writing the child's name on the reverse side) Many students pay for their meals daily, in cash. Alas, no credit cards accepted!

To parents and citizens interested in improving the nutritional quality of the food served to students, Mrs Hurley yearns to be a co-conspirator She's found that only a handful of students will accept organic food, even "Cornell" bread is a loser on the line - end losers aren't good business when taxpayers funds are involved Food Services is open to all suggestions, just as it is open for inspection by parents When there is a question concerning additives, quality, or any such related inquiries, experts at Rutgers or in Philadelphia join in getting answers and making judgments. As one cafeteria worker remarked after a Trentonian article on school food, "We're number ONE and we're going to stay number ONE."

PRS SCHOOL nurses will host the Mercer County School Nurses Association meeting on Thursday, Jan. 12. Guest speakers Mrs Eileen Sonntag and Dr Robert Weierman will present a program on "Early Scoliosis Detection".

COMMUNICATIONS: school, parent, community awareness is on the agenda as Jean Silvester interviews Dr. Paul Houston on WHWH at 1:05 p.m., Friday, January 5. Tady Hunter from this column also participates.

MISERABLE weather doesn't mean cancelled recess for LB students; instead, there is an opportunity for a mini-course Parents and community friends lead these groups which may run for a half-hour period on one day or through an entire week. Littlebrook welcomes any volunteers who might like to teach such a course, give a demonstration, or offer time to show off their specialty Call Mary Anne Heacock (921-7161) or the school (924-3475) for information or sign-up for duty.

Constitution Hill Debated.

To the Editor of Town Topics.

I have been following with interest the events relating to the plans for Constitution Hill (the Morgan house and grounds), and the proposed change in the ordinance which currently permits the building of a flat within a house. I admire the good taste and integrity with which Perry Morgan, a Princeton architect, has designed a plan for the Constitution Hill property, a plan which not only preserves the magnificant house and gardens and much of the woods and open spaces, but also is responsive to the needs of the community, in that it provides small elegant living quarters near the center of town, appropriate for young singles or couples, or for older people who no longer need large homes. I was not surprised when the regional planning board found this plan to be an attractive use of the land.

Neither was I surprised to hear the expressed fears of some members of the Planning Board and of the Township Committee that the idea of permitting flats in a new "development" might set a dangerous precedent if it were to be followed in other land developments in the township. If this were to be done on a wide scale, the aims of the planners to provide a balanced community might be jeopardized. Although the Planning Board recommended to the Township Committee that the flat ordinance be amended so that new builders could not add a flat until five years of occupancy had passed, I thought the Township Committee was wise in their decision to take more time to consider this change before acting.

It is fortunate that the Constitution Hill proposal has come before the governing bodies at a time when the master plan is still being shaped. A good master plan will reflect the needs and desires of the community and at the same time will be flexible enough to allow us and our grandchildren to take advantage of creative land-use concepts which we may want but hadn't anticipated.

We should be careful to keep the flat ordinance flexible, too. We should permit single home builders to include a flat to use immediately or in the future (which they can do under the present ordinance), whereas we should amend the ordinance to require builders of multi-house tracts to secure special permission for flats, to be permitted only when the builder can show that it serves the larger plan to have smaller units.

If the flat ordinance is amended so that it loses all flexibility, Princeton will not get the smaller housing units it so desperately needs. Unfortunately, the expense of the Constitution Hill conversion and the high taxes on this land will restrict these living units to people who can afford the grounds and long uninterrupted views which this cluster concept will provide. The alternative (if no flats are allowed) is that the present house may be torn down, the land divided into lots, and each lot will have a house on it, the all too familiar suburban scene. Our chance for a new concept in Princeton housing will be lost along with Constitution Hill and its gardens.

The Constitution Hill proposal is a new idea for Princeton, and people are understandably shy of new ideas. Let's not be so frightened that we change an ordinance which is serving us well, and if after serious study of all the factors (we lack many facts), the Township Committee decides to change it, I hope that they will leave some flexibility in it.

1776 Exhibit Here

The Bicentennial may be two years past, but it will be a teaching tool for a long time to come.

At Community Park School, starting this Thursday and continuing through January 19, the New Jersey State Museum's Bicentennial Exhibit will be on view.

The public is invited to visit the two trailers along the parking drive, and to join guide William Schluter and whatever class is touring the exhibit at the time.

Hours are 8:45 to 3 on school days. There is no admission charge.

Artifacts illustrating the social, military and political aspects of the Revolutionary War period are on view in the exhibit. Community art teacher Ted Lynch arranged for the exhibit with the state, according to Principal Eugene Biringer.

Jerome G. Rose, 21 Tyson Lane, professor of urban planning at Livingston College and a member of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, is the editor–with Robert E. Rothman–of "After Mount Laurel: The New Suburban Zoning."

The volume, published by Rutgers Center for Urban Policy Research, is a collection of 27 essays analyzing the New Jersey decision that requires all developing municipalities to provide in their zoning laws for a fair share of the regional need for low and moderate-income housing.

Many of the essays were presented at a symposium held at Rutgers-Newark Law School, a symposium organized by Mr. Rothman when he was a student there. A practicing attorney, he is a former student of Dr. Rose's.

Ten of the 27 essays were written by Dr. Rose, and contain a critical appraisal of the decision. Dr. Rose argues that the judicial process is inappropriate for the administration of principles established in the Mount Laurel decision. Argument in most of the other essays, supports the decision and is generally laudatory.

Staff Sergeant George J. Kelly, son of Mrs. Robert R. Kelly of 144 Drift Avenue, Lawrenceville, has arrived for duty at Randolph AFB, Texas. He is an aircraft pneudraulic systems technician with a unit of the Air Training Command and previously served at Keesler AFB, Mississippi. A 1963 graduate of Notre Dame High School, he attended Rider College.

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

Did you know that 4 U.S. Presidents played college football? ... Can you name the 4 who did? ... They were President Eisenhower who was a halfback at Army in 1912 ... President Kennedy who was a junior varsity end at Harvard in 1937 ... President Nixon who was a lineman at Whittier College in 1931-32-33 ... And President Ford who was a center for Michigan in 1932-33-34.

Amazingly, 2 major college football teams have gone to post-season bowl games even though they LOST more games than they won that season! ... South Carolina went to the 1946 Gator Bowl with a record of 2 wins, 3 losses and 3 ties ... And, SMU went to the 1964 Sun Bowl with a record of 4 wins and 6 defeats.

Here's an incredible fact about Notre Dame ... OF ALL the schools that have ever played football against Notre Dame since 1900, only 3 have beaten Notre Dame more often than Notre Dame has beaten them ... The only teams that have a lifetime edge on the Irish are Michigan, which has won 9 out of 11 against Notre Dame; and Yale and Mississippi, which each won the only game Notre Dame ever played against them.

Tiger Quintet Smothered by Penn, 78 to 63
Dartmouth and Harvard on Hand This Weekend

Princeton's basketball team, which had gained a degree of sympathy when it lost six games by a total of 14 points, dropped one Tuesday night by 15. In being blown off the Jadwin Gymnasium floor by Pennsylvania, 78 to 63, the Tigers created considerable doubt that they can regroup sufficiently to make a run for a third straight Ivy League championship.

Both teams played a sizeable amount of atrocious basketball during the first 20 minutes, which saw the Quakers leave the floor ahead by 27-26. Each side missed a number of easy shots in the early going, and with better than three minutes gone, it was a 4-4 tie.

The Tigers missed a pair of simple layups, lost the ball several times on walking violations and added a turnover when guard Rich Rizzuto dribbled out of bounds coming down court. As the midway point in the first half neared, they had fallen behind by 10 at 18-8, but it was the visitors' turn next to turn cold, and the gap gradually narrowed.

Princeton's greatest problem was directly traceable to the misfortunes of its fine forward, co-captain Frank Sowinski, who failed to make a point in the first 20 minutes. He sat out the final five with three fouls, as did the Quakers' star, Keven McDonald, but the latter had managed 10 of his team's 27 points before departing.

Tigers Stay Cold. One team returned to the floor after the intermission to play vastly improved basketball, Pennsylvania connecting on 20 of 30 shots from the floor to break the game open quickly. Its slim lead at half-time mounted to 10 and then a dozen points before the final period was half gone.

Not only did Sowinski continue scoreless until the game was virtually out of reach, but the 6-6 McDonald had a field day because he was being guarded by the 6-2 Bob Kleinert to keep Sowinski out of further foul trouble. Eventually, the Tiger forward, who came into the game with a 16.6 average, managed three meaningless field goals.

It was apparent from the beginning that the Tigers, off to their worst start in four years, were feeling the pressure of the mistakes they had made in losing half a dozen of their first 10 games. Absent almost entirely was the discipline that has been their hallmark, as they missed "sitting duck" field goals and allowed frequent baskets that good defense would never have permitted.

Unable to produce any semblance of a rally in the closing minutes, they only once cut the victors' margin to as few as eight points, and Penn's lead at the final buzzer was its greatest of the evening. McDonald led everyone with 25; Bob Roma contributed 17 for Princeton.

Without doubt, the most astonishing statistic of the game was Penn's ability to score 51 points in the second half. Last season the Tigers led every major team in the nation by allowing an average of just 51 points a game.

There was another disturbing similarity to the '73-'74 season – the last "poor" one for Princeton, when it was beaten five times before New year's Day and finished with a 16-10 mark. That was the last year it lost to Penn in Jadwin Gym, the Quakers going on to an easy Ivy League victory and the Tigers falling back to a second-place tie with Brown.

Harvard Game on TV. Two more, presumably easier, Ivy games face the Tigers this weekend, their last in league competition until they clash with Penn a second time in Philadelphia on January 28. Dartmouth and Harvard, neither of which have made a serious run for the title in a decade or more, will be in Jadwin Friday and Saturday at 8, with the contest against the Crimson to be seen on New Jersey Public Television, Channels 23 and 52.

Of the two, Harvard, a 59-44 victor over Dartmouth at Hanover last month, is considerably the better team. First-year coach Frank McLaughlin, formerly at Notre Dame, is building around three seniors, 6-9 Brian Banks at center, 6-5 Gary Ackerman at one of the forward slots and a 5-9 Glenn Fine as the playmaker at guard.

The Crimson lost a co-captain, 6-8 Steve Irion, for the season following knee surgery, and like all Harvard teams in the sport, is plagued by a lack of depth. Well below the .500 mark, it dropped five of its first seven games after finishing 9-16 last season in its final year under ex-Celtic Tom Sanders. The Tigers have an 11-game streak going in the series dating back to 1971.

Former Princeton player and assistant coach Gary Walters will return Friday night with a squad that may be only a little better than last year's, which struggled through injuries and a 4-22 season. A 3-11 Ivy record landed the Green in the cellar.

Co-Captain John Lisowski, a 6-1 guard, is back after missing all last year with a knee injury, and so is the other co-captain, 6-9 center Sterling Edmonds, the leading scorer. Over the years, Dartmouth has had many fine seasons in Ivy play, but the last one occurred when the present squad was in its infancy, and Walters is continuing the long fight to regain respectability.

Next Tuesday will find the Tigers at South Orange for a game with Seton Hall, a New Jersey rival with which they have split the only two games in the brief series, staged more than 30 years ago. The Pirates are one of the New Jersey - New York Basketball Seven, a conference announced with some fanfare three years ago but little publicized today because so many scheduling difficulties exist.

Last winter, the Tigers played only four games with the other six -- two with Columbia by virtue of their Ivy rivalry. St. John's, Manhattan, Rutgers and Fordham are the other members.

Seton Hall has lost Moses Malone, who was the Philadelphia Sixers' No. 1 draft choice but couldn't make the club. Four other regulars are back to go with Malone's replacement, Dewan Scott, a 6-8 junior college transfer from San Luis Obispo, Calif. The best of these is 6-1 Greg Tynes, a standout guard who averaged 21.9 points a game last season.

This contest, too, will be on New Jersey Public Television. Game-time is 8:15.

PHS IS 79-61 VICTIM

Of St. Anthony. The Princeton High School basketball team, which stayed with visiting St. Anthony Tuesday in the first half, was outscored by a 4-1 ratio in the third period and went on to lose its first Colonial Valley Conference game, 79-61.

PHS coach Marv Trotman, who started freshman Peter Sharpless and two sophomores, Don Johnson and Kevin Robinson, admitted that his young inexperienced team got rattled by St. Anthony's full-court defense. "We played well the first half, but fell apart in the third quarter. Everybody forgot what they were supposed to do."

Despite the loss, Trotman said that he was very happy with his team's play in spots. "We're gradually getting better. We've come a tremendous way and we're going to continue to improve. We're going to lose some more, but we aren't going to give up." The loss dropped PHS to a 1-7 mark.

The first period ended tied at 14-all as Robinson hit for eight points. Seven players scored in the second period for PHS which enjoyed its biggest lead, 28-25 with less than two minutes to play. St. Anthony, however, ran off six quick points and when John Bucci connected at the buzzer, the visitors had a 35-30 halftime lead.

10 in a Row. Any hopes that PHS would continue its fine play evaporated when the Iron Mikes reeled off 10 unanswered points at the start of the third period. Roy Brooks, the Gaels' leading rebounder, who was held to two points in the first half, erupted for 13 in the third period as St. Anthony went on to rip PHS, 29-7.

In the final period, PHS outscored St. Anthony, 24-15, as Mike Fuschini connected for 10 of his 21 points for PHS. Half of the 24 came from the foul line, including five from freshman Pat McAvenia. Robinson, who fouled out with 5:24 to go, ended with 14.

Trotman has gone with his younger players, he said, "because nobody else is playing any better. We've got to get somebody moving the ball. We've got to take the pressure off Mike. We're a much better team when he doesn't handle the ball all the time."

Fuschini entered the game with a 19.6 average – fifth highest in the county. For St. Anthony, which won its fourth in six starts, Brooks and Jeff Migliaccio had 18 points, while Bob Brennan added 15.

TOURNAMENT TROUBLE

Tigers Win One of Four. The Princeton basketball team's troubled month of December, which saw it lose more games in the opening portion of its schedule than at any time since 1973, was capped last week by two more narrow defeats – 68-65 to Alabama and 61-59 to Holy Cross. The Tigers' showing in the two holiday tournaments was saved from total disaster by the 67-46 triumph over weak Bowling Green.

In the second contest with Alabama, which had won the first matchup at Indiana, 61-60, the Orange and Black trailed by 38-31 at the half, narrowed the gap three times in the final 20 minutes to three points, but that was its deficit at the final buzzer. Foul trouble (Frank Sowinski played the final 10:48 with four) and poor rebounding told much of the story. When the losers got only 21 shots off the two backboards, they set a low mark for the ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden

Playing with what has developed into the weakest bench they have had in a number of years, the Tigers lost Bill Omeltchenko with five fouls just before the game ended, while Sowinski, Bob Kleinert and Phil Rizzuto all had four. They outshot Alabama from the floor, 30 to 29, but lost at the line despite the Crimson Tide's wobegone 10-for-18 performance.

Bob Roma's 26 points on great 12-for-18 shooting gave him a career high. Sowinski had 19 and Kleinert made it to double figures with 10 – most of them in the second half.

As the Clock Ran Out. When a basket with four seconds left gave Holy Cross a 61-59 triumph, it marked the Tigers' sixth loss by a total of 14 points. In two of them, (the first game with Alabama and the Holy Cross contest), the difference was reflected in the technical fouls called against Pete Carril.

Princeton had a lead of seven points (21-14) in the opening half but fell back to a tie at 40 after the first 20 minutes. Six minutes after play had resumed, the Tigers were on their way to an upset of the nationally-ranked Crusaders but could not hold a 52-42 lead.

Shots they never should have taken while holding the lead and turnovers (20 in all) led to Princeton's defeat. They were in a 59-59 tie and had possession with just over a minute to go when Roma was called for travelling. Holy Cross narrowed the clock to six seconds, missed on a short jumper but then forward Mike Vincens tapped in the rebound.

Roma, with 19 points to add to his 26 two nights earlier, was named to the All-Tournament team, his second such honor over the Christmas break. Sowinski added 13, and the Tigers got a rare four in double figures when Omeltchenko made 12 and Kleinert 11. Their shooting percentages were great (24 of 40 for 60 percent from the floor and 11 for 14 (79 percent) at the line), but their sixth loss this season – by a total of 14 points – exceeded by one the number they dropped all last year, including the NCAA defeat by Kentucky.

HOCKEY HERE SATURDAY

Tigers to Face B.U. Making one of its rare appearances in Bakers Rink, (two so far in the past six weeks), Princeton's hockey team will face Boston University Saturday night at 7:30. The assignment for the struggling Tigers, who began the week with a 1-5-2 mark, is a tough one--B.U. is tops in the eastern standings.

Playing for the first time since December 11, the Orange and Black will take on Bowdoin Wednesday night in the first Maine Holiday Classic at Portland. The matching is a bit unusual in that these two teams are the co-favorites in the tournament, in which Maine (6-4) and Colby (0-2-1) are also entered.

Although it is a Division II team, Bowdoin figures to give Princeton a full share of action. Outscoring their five opponents, 41 to 8, the Polar Bears have fine balance, having allowed but one power-play goal in 25 such situations.

Winners and losers will meet in Thursday night's action. Maine is coached by Jack Semler, who handled the Princeton varsity for four years before he left and Jim Higgins came here from Colgate.

BACK-TO-BACK GAMES

For PHS Quintet. After struggling through a 1-6 record in December, the Princeton High School basketball team will try to right itself in January.

On Monday, the Little Tigers will travel to Pennington Prep for an 8 p.m. contest and on Tuesday they will host Hightstown at 3:45 in their second Colonial Valley Conference game.

Certainly PHS coach Marv Trotman was glad to see 1977 end. His team, which was beaten in the first round of the Kennedy Memorial Classic tournament by Delaware Valley, had equally poor success in the losers' bracket, where it was trounced last week by South Hunterdon, 79-57, and edged Friday by Chatham Township 61-58, despite a season-high 33 by Mike Fuschini.

Previously winless Chatham (1-5) outscored PHS, 20-12, in the first period and made it stand up the rest of the game. Fuschini, who had 66 points during the tournament, which was won by Delaware Valley, hit on 13 shots from the floor and added seven free throws. Kevin Robinson had 10 points for PHS but no one else scored more than three for the struggling Little Tigers.

Against South Hunterdon, PHS jumped to an 18-12 lead after one period but couldn't hold it as the Eagles outplayed PHS under the boards in the next two periods and outran the Blue and White for uncontested layups. With eight minutes left, PHS trailed, 55-37.

Fuschini again led the Little Tigers with 17 points. Dave Johnson had 11 and Peter Sharpless, up from the jayvee squad had 12. Robinson was held to four, his how for the season. Six players from PHS scored two points each as Trotman used everyone trying to find the right combination.

TOUGH GAMES AHEAD

For PDS Basketball Team. At this point, we're just spinning our wheels, running in mud, under self-imposed pressure. All we need are one or two big wins to make believers of ourselves; we haven't put it together yet mentally."

Such is the observation of Princeton Day coach Alan Taback as he prepares his team for the rest of a very difficult season. The Panthers are heading into January with a 3-4 mark, including two losses in the Hamilton Christmas Tournament, a far different record than they have compiled the last few years at this juncture.

The Blue and White has played well most of the time, but so far it lacks the confidence and poise needed to pull out the close ones. "We need to mature a bit," Taback observed. "We haven't won as a team, yet. Only one of the games we won was a challenge."

There are plenty more challenges on the horizon. A home game against Wardlaw this Wednesday is expected to be something of a breather, but Friday PDS will be up against a Hill team that whipped Lawrenceville by 30 points, and next Wednesday it travels across town to the home of Ron Payton and Co. for a game with Hun. And the schedule doesn't get any easier after that.

What Might Have Been. A couple of breaks going the other way might have put the Panthers in the final of the Hamilton Tournament last week, instead of a spiritless consolation game which they also lost.

Tied with the host team at 52-all in the closing minutes, PDS was victimized by some fine shooting by the Hornets' Ron Muse. After Walters had tied the game, Muse hit on a 22-foot jumper to regain the lead for Hamilton.

The Peugeot 604 SL gives you comfort and roadability the Cadillac Seville can't deliver.

To experience the superior riding comfort and roadability of the Peugeot 604, you have to drive it yourself. When you do, you'll discover a level of satisfaction the Cadillac Seville can't provide.

Smoother ride
Unlike Seville, the Peugeot 604 has McPherson struts for extra-long vertical wheel travel. And oversized shock absorbers designed and patented by Peugeot.

Better handling
Four-wheel independent suspension and weight distribution that's nearly perfect give the 604 better road holding characteristics than the Seville.

Tighter cornering
The 604's turning circle is 4½ feet smaller in diameter than Seville's.

Better braking
In 70 to 0 tests, the Peugeot 604 stopped short of Seville by over ten feet.*

More precise steering
Unlike the Seville, the Peugeot 604 has power-assisted rack and pinion steering, so you can park with ease without losing the feel of the road at highway speeds.

Lower price
The Seville starts at around $13,350. A comparably equipped Peugeot 604 SL lists for about $1,600 less.†

Naturally both cars give you comfortable interiors. But for a much lower price, the Peugeot 604 gives you the total driving comfort only a true European grand touring sedan can deliver.

PHS Wins County Wrestling Tournament

Placing five in the championship round, Princeton High School won the team title last week in the annual Mercer County Christmas Wrestling Tournament at Notre Dame High School.

The Little Tigers also won three individual championships -- one more than the two captured by West Windsor, Steinert, Notre Dame and Hopewell Valley -- to finish with 104½ points. Steinert, which won the event last year, was second with 95, followed by Hopewell Valley (88), West Windsor (84½), Allentown (79½), Trenton (72), Notre Dame (54), Lawrence (25), Hamilton (24½) and Ewing (16).

Going into the final round, PHS led Steinert by 4½ points. "We figured we had to take three out of five in the finals to win it," commented PHS coach Tom Murray. "The kids all gave me 100 percent."

Princeton got its three to win its second Mercer County crown. Matt Wilkinson won a superior, 11-0 decision over Notre Dame's Jim DiPersio to win the 108-lb. championship; PHS captain Dave Wilson scored an 8-0 major decision over John Hanson of Allentown to win at 141 pounds; and Keith Wadsworth, PHS 188-pounder, defeated Allentown's Jerry Seip, 8-3.

PHS almost had a fourth champion but Eric Tazelaar lost a 4-2 decision in overtime to Notre Dame's Frank Dennehy, whom he has defeated before. Princeton's other second-place finisher was Karem El-Meligi, who was pinned by Willie McIntyre of Trenton in 2:29.

"We thought maybe we had a chance to win it," said Murray, "but you don't know in a tournament. It's not only what you do but what the other teams do; how you match up against other teams."

"Mixed Reaction." West Windsor coach Ken Bernabe reported he had "mixed reactions" to the outcome. "I'm not disappointed with what my kids accomplished but I am disappointed we didn't win a team trophy. I thought we might nudge into a third place finish."

Bernabe said that he was disappointed more in terms of what the other teams did. "I didn't think Princeton High would finish on top, and I never expected Hopewell Valley to finish as high as they did."

The Pirates won championships at 129 and 135 pounds. John Houtenville held on to edge Ewing's Chuck Hackett, 7-6, to win at 129 pounds and tie former PHS wrestler Dave Robinson for the most individual county titles won -- three. John Cummings of WW decisioned Aldo Gonzales of Notre Dame, 5-2, to win the 135-lb. crown. "He had a very nice tournament," said Bernabe.

Steve deDufour of Hopewell Valley was voted the Outstanding Wrestler in the tournament, after pinning Steve Zima of Steinert in 2:40 in the 158-lb. class. His brother Rich won the same honor two years earlier.

Wilkinson the Key. Murray said later that one of the keys to Princeton's success in the tournament was Wilkinson's win. "He's really matured. Before, he always felt he had to prove something to me, to his parents, to his brother (Hank Wilkinson was one of the first outstanding wrestlers at PHS) and he would get emotionally upset. Not anymore. That's the best he's wrestled."

A junior, Wilkinson was runner-up last year and the top seed this year. "I really wanted this one," said Wilkinson.

Another key, Murray felt, was Bruce Cobb's 11-0 major decision over Bill Carpenter of Steinert in the 101-lb. consolation round for third place, "when every point was important. It just seemed to give everyone a lift and the kids went on from there."

Prior to the final round, Wilson scored an 11-0 decision in the semis and a 1:24 pin in the quarter-finals. "No problems at all; it's a beauty to watch him wrestle," said Murray.

Last year, Wilson had lost a disputed decision to West Windsor's Ernie Rich in the finals.

Controversy. There was a controversial bout in the finals this year, too, involving the bout between Houtenville and Sackett, but Bernabe described the furor as a "bunch of baloney."

Toward the end of the match, which Houtenville had dominated, Sackett came on strong, as if he had taken a shot of adrenalin. "He had nothing to lose and everything to gain, while Houtenville was in the opposite position," commented Bernabe.

Sackett caught Houtenville in a cradle and turned him on his back. Bernabe said later that Houtenville's back was not parallel to the mat but perpendicular. "His shoulders did not meet the criteria for a near fall."

The referee agreed and awarded no back points despite howls of protests from the spectators. "There was a referee on the mat, one in front of the scorer's table and one behind the mat. All agreed after the match that no back points should be awarded," continued Bernabe. "The thing that amazed me was that John got caught in that position."

Houtenville had defeated Sackett, 16-0, in a tournament and 3-2 in a dual meet.

West Windsor's third finalist, Mark Edenfield, lost 6-0 to Tim Adams of Steinert and was never in the match. Brian Fahey finished third at 108 pounds.

West Windsor will resume dual meet competition Wednesday evening at 8 when it plays host to Notre Dame in a Colonial Valley Conference meet. PHS will play host to Hightstown next Wednesday evening at 8.

Sports in Princeton

PDS worked the ball around for an open shot which rimmed the basket, and Muse came down and scored again. "If we could have gotten up by one, I think we could have won it," Taback commented. PDS controlled the tempo nearly the entire game, especially the first half.

Hamilton opened an 11-point lead in the third period, but PDS fought back to gain a tie in the fourth. Walters and Jamie Bartolomei led all scores with 21 and 20 points respectively.

Two nights later, the Blue and White did not play up to par against Steinert and dropped a 63-51 decision. The difference was John Ebeling, the Iron Mikes' fine senior center, who scored a career high 39 points on 17 of 21 field goals. Carl Hill led PDS with 16.

Even with his team's problems at the moment, Taback is far happier trying to put together a satisfactory record against superior competition, than a great mark against mediocre teams. Most of the weak North Jersey prep schools that PDS defeated easily year after year have been dropped from the schedule.

"I'd much rather be trying to figure out how to win a ball game, than how to keep the score down," Taback concluded.

HUN WINS TOURNAMENT

As Payton Excells. If Hun School doesn't win all its remaining ball games this season it won't be Ron Payton's fault.

The 6-5 center led Hun to the championship of the 19th annual Hightstown Christmas Tournament last week, his 28 points pacing Hun to a 48-45 victory over Chestnut Hill in the title game. The previous day, Payton had missed only one attempt from the floor, scoring 36 points in Hun's easy 72-53 victory over Hightstown in the opening round.

His performances drew such comments as "unbelievable" and "scoring machine" from rival coaches. Only a week ago, Payton was shooting for his 2,000th career point. Three games later, he already had 2,113.

Not surprisingly, Payton was voted the Most Valuable Player in the Tournament, which Hun had last won three years in a row, from 1972-74. Can Payton be stopped? "I don't know of any way," said Hun coach Dave Leete.

Hun will resume play Friday evening at 8 when it plays host to Newark Academy. In its first eight games, it has won seven.

12 More in Second Period. Against Chestnut Hill (3-3), which tried to slow down the tempo, Payton scored 12 of Hun's 15 points in the second period. His three-point play with a second to go gave Hun a 23-18 halftime lead.

Then after Chestnut Hill had tied it at 37 with a little over five minutes left, Payton sank two free throws to give Hun the lead again which it never relinquished. Brian Lee and Bill Comly combined for 14 points in support of Payton. "Our players came through when they had to," said Leete, after the hard-fought contest.

In the first game, Payton had Hightstown coach Dick Tuliszewski talking to himself after he hit on his first six shots from the floor. To his 12 first-period markers, Payton added 10 more in the second as Hun opened up a 34-19 spread at the half, increasing it to 52-2 after three periods.

"He's the best I've seen in Mercer County; we just couldn't handle him," said Tuliszewski. Bob Gunnell was high for the Rams with 14, while Mike DiLorenzo had eight, and Bob Innocenzi and Comly six each for Hun.

In the tournament's consolation game, Lawrence High finished in third place, defeating Hightstown, 63-50.

WOMEN'S SQUASH HERE

LET'S TALK ABOUT

Anti-Wilt Sprays and Mulches Aid in Winterizing Evergreens

with Sam deTuro

Winterizing Evergreens reduces winter injury. Dieback or browning of tips and branches of Evergreens reults when roots in frozen soil cannot replace moisture loss through needles to high drying winter winds.

First, says Sam DeTuro of Woodwinds, mulches are helpful in reducing fluctuating soil temperatures that lead to winter kill end also conserve soil moisture.

Second, spraying with an anti-desiccant compound will cut down loss of moisture during winter and prevent harsh drying out of the plants under high winds, as well as sun scald.

Both materials should be applied now, and the sprays on a day when the temperatures are 40 degrees or above. The second spray application is recommended during a few warm days in February.

Anti-desiccants have largely replaced the old fashioned burlap protection of shrubs and foundation plantings. Some evergreens, however, such as Boxwood, Rhododendrons, Laurel, Azaleas and Andromeda should be tied under certain conditions to prevent ice and snow from accumulating inside and bending the shrubs out of shape. Loosely tie heavy twine around the plants starting from the bottom, making the loops 6 inches to 1 foot apart

FROM THE RAIN-FOREST: Using a wire framework and covering it with sand-gravel mix, social studies students in House 10, John Witherspoon Middle School, made a replica of an African mud house from the rain-forest region. Branches and straw on the roof simulate thatch. Around the house is a book display of reference materials on African countries, their art and traditions. There is also an explanation of the house itself, its geographic location and climate.

REGISTRATION SET

For YWCA Winter Classes. Registration for winter classes at the YWCA will be held Saturday from 9 to 2:30 and on Monday from 9 to 8:30 at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place.

A winter brochure provides a wide variety of programs for women and girls. A few of the specialties offered by the adult department include a writer's workshop, tapestry making, vegetarian cooking, garden sculpture, advanced French or English as a second language.

Two new women's services initiated by the YWCA are designed for women in all stages of transition. A support group is being formed to meet the immediate and long term needs of women separated or divorced. The sessions will be oriented around emotional, financial, and family problems a woman encounters during the passage to life as an independent single person.

Two women attorneys will instruct an in-depth study of current New Jersey divorce laws and examine questions such as support and property settlements, tax implications, custody and visitation rights.

The youth and health - recreation departments are working together on a new program which will allow mothers nr fathers to join with their children in special projects and family rap sessions. This group has met once already. Single Parents Answering Needs (SPAN) will continue to welcome new members, any time.

The youth department also provides young teen women with a young author's workshop, a Wednesday Club, guitar and sewing lessons and a special Saturday group of Y Teen Players, who will share in learning dramatic techniques while working toward their own production. Everyday, including Saturday, swimming and exercise classes are taught at all levels. Mother - toddler gym or swim, a waterbabies program, ice skating. Judo, yoga, racquetball, slim and trim, aerobics and Swedish gymnastics are a sampling of the diverse athletic programs available.

All current YWCA members received the new brochure by mail. Others are available at the YWCA office. Nursery facilities are provided for children ages 1-5 at a small fee while mothers attend classes.

For further information call the YWCA at 924-4825.

THREE ARE CHARGED

With Possession of CDS. Three men have been charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance, after their car was stopped Thursday night by Ptl. Randy Sutton at Library Place and Stockton Street for a routine check.

They are Stephan M. Mosner, 23, 13 Tall Timbers Drive; Robert D. Kramer, 24, 120 Villanova Drive, Lawrence Township; and Norman W. Albert, 23, of Trenton. All have been released with a complaint summons.

After stopping the car, Ptl. Sutton allegedly detected an odor of marijuana and called for backup assistance from Sgt. Thomas Michaud. Police found a white powder rolled up in a $20 bill on the ground where the three suspects had been standing outside their car during questioning. It has been sent to the police lab for analysis.

TRAINING SESSION SET

In Ice Skating Safety. The 1978 training session for ice skating safety will be held Thursday evening at 7 in the recreation office in the Valley Road School.

A film on ice rescue will be provided by the Red Cross. Safety procedures, problems, responsibilities, schedules and staffing will be discussed in a short meeting.

TAX POLICY IS TOPIC

Of TV Special. Richard Leone, chairman of the N.J. Commission on Government Costs and Tax Policy, and three members of his commission, will explain their recommendations to Governor Brendan Byrne on New Jersey Public Television Thursday at 8.

They will be joined by Joseph Merlino, president of the New Jersey Senate, and Senator Walter Foran in the hour-long "New Jersey News: Special Report," produced by the state's public TV network in conjunction with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs at Princeton University, where Mr. Leone teaches.

The six panelists will focus on several of the key policy questions raised in their report. They will also answer questions from a studio audience made up of freshmen New Jersey legislators, state leaders, community representatives and students from the Woodrow Wilson School.
